TNARC / 2026

The National Alliance for Restorative Communities

RESTORE. RECONNECT. TRANSFORM.

Where educators, school leaders, community practitioners, researchers, and changemakers come together to build restorative communities that transform schools and strengthen human connection.

DATE

November 18–19, 2026

VENUE

Conrad Los Angeles

100 South Grand Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90012

WHY TNARC?

TODAY'S CHALLENGES REQUIRE A NEW APPROACH.

TNARC brings together educators, school leaders, researchers, and community practitioners to explore practical, evidence-informed approaches to restorative practice, human development, relationships, and school transformation.

This is a space to move beyond ideas—to connect research with real-world practice and leave with strategies you can put into action.

CONFERENCE PROGRAM

TWO STRANDS. ONE MISSION.

01 / STRAND ONE

Restorative Practices, Cultural Responsiveness & Community Healing

Restorative work only holds when it is rooted in the culture, history, and healing of the community it serves. Explore serious harm, implementation, equity, identity, family partnership, community practice, discipline redesign, and sustainability.

12 SESSIONS

02 / STRAND TWO

Regulate, Relate, Repair: SEL, the Brain, Behavior & Relationships

Translate research on stress, development, regulation, relationships, belonging, trauma, attention, behavior, grief, burnout, digital life, and cross-system response into observable practice.

13 SESSIONS

WHAT YOU'LL TAKE WITH YOU

Practical Strategies

Move from theory to tools, protocols, and strategies you can apply in your work.

Research-Informed Learning

Connect current research with practitioner experience and real-world implementation.

Meaningful Connection

Build relationships with educators, leaders, researchers, and community practitioners from across the country.

New Perspectives

Explore the intersection of restorative practices, culture, neuroscience, relationships, and systems transformation.
